APPROVAL OF THE AGENDA

The Board reconvened for the business portion of the meeting at 2:07 p.m. in Urban Conference Room. Chair Timken asked if there were any additions or corrections to the agenda, hearing none, the agenda was approved by general consent.

DISPOSITION OF MINUTES

Chair Timken then asked if there were any corrections to the minutes of the meeting of March 13, 2013. Hearing no corrections, the minutes were approved by general consent.

REPORT OF THE CHAIRPERSON

Chair Timken began her report by congratulating President Lefton, faculty, staff, and students for completing a highly successful, extraordinary year. She commented that without a doubt, the coming year will be a most dynamic and important time for Kent State. President Lefton and the board are committed to continuing the momentum and progress toward Kent State’s aggressive excellence agenda, she said, and with Dr. Lefton’s recent announcement, the university will be recruiting the next leader who will take the institution successfully into the future.

Chair Timken noted that there will be time to honor Dr. Lefton’s work in the coming year, but she could not let the opportunity pass without saying how much the trustees have enjoyed working with him and Mrs. Lefton. The board is pleased and enormously proud of the university’s progress during President Lefton’s tenure, and believe he’s been the right leader at the right time, she stated. She continued, noting that under the leadership of President Lefton, Kent State has achieved record-setting performances and is well positioned for the future. President Lefton’s ability to get important things done, and his passion and strategic vision are remarkable. On behalf of the board, Chair Timken commented that President Lefton will be greatly missed.

She stated that the board is committed to conducting a comprehensive and rigorous national presidential search that will allow the university to identify the right leader to serve as Kent State’s next president, beginning July 1, 2014. Chair Timken continued by announcing that Trustee Richard Marsh would serve as the search chair. She stated that it has been an honor and pleasure to work with Trustee Marsh. Given his outstanding track record as a leader, Chair Timken has every confidence that the search process will be inclusive, well executed, and successful in attracting stellar candidates to Kent State.
Trustee Marsh thanked the board for its support, noting that selecting a new president is among the most important responsibilities trustees can undertake. He commented that the search would offer the university an opportunity to assess its strategic vision, and decide what type of leader is needed to execute the strategy. Since 2006, Kent State has been fortunate to have the inspired leadership of Dr. Lefton, which has transformed the university community and placed it in a very strong position for this search. Trustee Marsh continued by stating that while the search is in the very early stages, he envisions a board-led process that is inclusive and will lead to the best result for the university. The search committee will seek input from various university constituencies and campuses, and that input will factor into the selection of Kent State’s 12th president, he said. Trustee Marsh thanked trustees for their support of the search, and noted that as a graduate of Kent State he is especially thrilled to play a role in selecting the new president.

Chair Timken thanked Trustee Marsh, and noted that the board will be contacting the groups listed in university policy to identify individuals to serve on the search committee. She expects that the full committee will be constituted in the next few weeks. The Board is committed to an inclusive process, soliciting input from the university community regarding leadership characteristics and the future of Kent State, she said. She continued by stating as Dr. Lefton said in his letter to the university community, Kent State must continue to build a great and meaningful institution that changes lives for high-achieving students from Northeast Ohio and beyond.

Speaking of high-achieving students, Chair Timken congratulated members of the Class of 2013 and their families, including Trustee Chelsea Knowles. In closing, Chair Timken made a few personal comments about Trustee Knowles, describing her as a shining example of KSU, exhibiting grace, charm and intelligence. Trustee Knowles is committed to high academic standards, is hard working and dedicated. She is an excellent example of her generation and of a Kent State graduate, stated Chair Timken. She concluded by stating that it has been a privilege serving with Trustee Knowles and the board looks forward to seeing her often at university events.

Chair Timken then asked President Lefton to give his report.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

President Lefton began his report on finding and creating financial pathways for Kent State students with some good news. He commented that signs of success are abundant at Kent State University. The ambitious Excellence Agenda is showing real results for students, families and communities, he said. President Lefton pointed to new programming, a record number of graduates, and the downtown renaissance as examples. He then updated the board on spring athletic successes including Mid-American Conference championships for men’s and women’s golf, and women’s track and field. He provided an update on the esplanade expansion, linking campus to downtown Kent. Finally, President Lefton discussed highlights from the spring 2013 commencement ceremonies, including the hilarious and thoughtful keynote given by producer and actor, Jeff Richmond, who received an honorary degree at the ceremony.
Turning his attention back to the theme of his presentation, President Lefton remarked that the board and administration have been developing a value proposition for students and families that is extraordinary. He then addressed the question of whether or not college is worth it by discussing key data points from recent studies. Among these points was the fact that the unemployment rate for college graduates is half the rate for those with high school diplomas. In 2010 the median annual earnings of college graduates was $55,700, versus $33,800 for high school graduates, he noted. President Lefton further noted that college graduates earn more than $1 million more than high school diploma holders over a lifetime.

He stated that families value higher education but stress about how to pay for it. The Great Recession hit middle- and low-income families hard, he said, and their incomes have remained stagnant in the recovery. President Lefton pointed out that Kent State serves a large population of first-generation students and students with family incomes less than $50,000 a year. As president, he affirmed his commitment to helping qualified Kent State students and families make college possible.

As family incomes stagnate, states have slashed spending for higher education, said President Lefton. He noted that states are spending $2,353, or 28% less per student today than they did in 2008 when the recession hit. Illustrating the impact, President Lefton pointed out that for the Kent Campus, state support for instruction per undergraduate FTE declined from $4,072 to $3,039 since 2008. He provided context for this decline in state support by showing where Ohio fell among the rest of the nation. President Lefton pointed out that state revenues fell deeply and remain depressed, and with many states choosing not to enact significant new revenues, a decline in state support has occurred. Despite the dramatic changes in state funding, Ohio is next to last in the nation in the amount of tuition increase over the past five years, he noted.

Kent State is responding, President Lefton said, by offering multiple pathways to a degree. He pointed out that regional campuses offer bachelor’s degrees at one-third less the cost while allowing students to stay close to home. Kent Campus tuition ranks seventh of Ohio’s public universities, and is lowest of the residential campuses, he noted. President Lefton then discussed the expansion of financial aid to meet student needs. Kent State’s top priority in fundraising is student scholarships, he said. The university plans to increase financial aid staff to help students find additional monies from private sources. He pointed out that the 2013 freshmen class has been offered $46 million in institutional financial aid, $9 million more than a year ago, and 10 percent of Kent State students pay no tuition at all.

President Lefton discussed other initiatives aimed at assisting students with the financial challenges of college. With timely graduation as a principal goal, the university helps students find part-time jobs that fit their schedules, is increasing online class options, and is expanding and enhancing student internships and co-op opportunities. He continued by pointing out that through value engineering and efficient management, the university has shifted resources to meet student needs. Kent State is also committed to reaching out to students before they go to college through a variety of programs and communications.
In the end, he stated, the university’s number-one priority is to produce college graduates. A major hurdle for students is finances, and Kent State is working on multiple fronts to help students find a pathway whereby finances are not an insurmountable obstacle, he said. President Lefton noted that with dwindling state and federal support, and the inevitable increase in costs – let alone stagnant family incomes – the challenge for Kent State grows greater each year. Nevertheless, as a system, Kent State is endeavoring to meet this challenge, he remarked. In partnership with the board, Kent State is creating a compelling value proposition – a dynamic, unparalleled college experience that is making the institution a first-choice university at a fifth the cost of private universities.

Trustee Chelsea Knowles commented that recently she participated in a financial literacy summit for Northeast Ohio schools, where other university representatives commented on their various programs aimed at helping students understand and meet the financial responsibilities of college. When it came time for her to speak on the subject, Trustee Knowles remarked that her comments centered on the scholarships, which Kent State offers to students and at the end of the day, have more impact on their financial situations. She continued saying that she was proud of the work being done in this area.

President Lefton asked Mark Evans, director of financial aid, to comment. Mr. Evans thanked the board and executive officers for their support of the scholarship programs, and echoed President Lefton’s statements on the success of the programs.

With that, President Lefton concluded his report.

PERSONNEL ACTIONS

Chair Timken asked President Lefton to present the personnel actions. President Lefton called on Provost Diacon to present the academic personnel actions and Interim Vice President Alvin Evans to present the non-academic personnel actions.

ACADEMIC PERSONNEL

Provost Diacon highlighted the granting of emeritus status to retiring faculty members and noted the appointment of the director of the university’s New York Fashion Studio. The remaining academic actions were routine in nature, he said.

NON-ACADEMIC PERSONNEL

Interim Vice Evans commented that all other non-academic actions were routine in nature.

ACTION: There were no objections to placing the personnel actions on the consent agenda.
EXTERNAL RELATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Trustee Larry Pollock began his report, noting that the External Relations and Development Committee met this morning to consider one management decision item, and to receive two reports on various topics.

NAMING RECOMMENDATION, KENT STATE UNIVERSITY AT ASHTABULA

Trustee Pollock noted that the Committee reviewed one naming recommendation proposing the naming of the Director of Enrollment Management and Student Services office in recognition of retired Kent State University at Ashtabula staff member Kelly L. Trustee Pollock then remarked that the Committee received a fundraising update from Vice President Gene Finn, which showed that cash in through April is ahead of last year and several major gifts are anticipated before the end of the fiscal year.

Next, Trustee Pollock stated that Director of Athletics Joel Nielsen provided a report on the Building Champions Initiative launched publicly on May 3, 2013, to raise money for scholarships for student-athletes and for strategic capital projects in athletics. He noted that the effort provides a comprehensive vision of what can be done and what can be possible with private support.

With that, Trustee Pollock concluded his report.

ACTION: There were no objections to placing the management decision item on the consent agenda.

Chair Timken then called on Trustee Dennis Eckart to give the report of the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND STUDENT SUCCESS COMMITTEE

Trustee Eckart stated that the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee considered six management decision items, two information items, and received three reports on various topics. The recommendations were reviewed and approved through the appropriate faculty and college committees, the Educational Policies Council and Faculty Senate, and carried the endorsement of the Provost and the President.

ESTABLISHMENT OF UNIVERSITY POLICY AND PROCEDURES 3342-6-26 REGARDING DISTINGUISHED ACADEMIC RANKS

Trustee Eckart remarked that Trustee Della Ratta and he have communicated their interest in establishing benchmarks for new degree requests, which will assist the committee in evaluating proposals and how the university chooses where to expand and contract in academic programs. Trustees are especially interested in ensuring that the educational programs and products Kent State offers meet student needs and the demands of the marketplace, he said.

Trustee Eckart then commented that the committee received two exciting informational reports, both of which bode well for Kent State’s future. Interim Dean of Arts and Sciences Jim Blank provided an excellent report on how the Foundations of Excellence, Building the Future initiative will impact the sciences at Kent State. Trustee Eckart said he felt the report was well done and served to assure the committee that there is a marriage between the work being planned and the academic direction of the disciplines. The committee also received an excellent report from Associate Provost Marcelo Fantoni concerning the strategic directions of the Office of Global Education. Trustee Eckart commented that with international students now comprising 11% of the Kent campus enrollment, the work being done provides not only a strong growth opportunity for Kent State but also a huge chance to position the university in the global marketplace.

He concluded with the observation that the key university indicators are up, and there are more students coming into the university with a higher propensity to succeed, which will lead to graduation and happy families. Kent State is doing well and stands in stark contrast to many sister institutions that are facing deficits and enrollment decline, he said.

With that, Trustee Eckart concluded his report.

ACTION: There were no objections to placing the management decision items on the consent agenda.

Chair Timken then called on Trustee Richard Marsh to give the Audit and Compliance Committee report.

AUDIT AND COMPLIANCE COMMITTEE

Trustee Marsh stated that the Audit and Compliance Committee met this morning with representatives from the external auditing firm of Plante & Moran, which recently was approved for a second five-year term as the university’s external auditor. He stated that the firm presented an outline of the audit activities that will be performed as part of the university’s fiscal year 2013 audit. The meeting was helpful for the committee and reflects a good working relationship among the auditors, management, and the Audit and Compliance Committee, he remarked.

The Committee also discussed the internal audit plan for fiscal year 2014 and reviewed an outline of audit projects, he said. Trustee Marsh noted that the Committee reviewed the third quarter report of fiscal year 2013 Internal Audit Plan budgeted hours to actual, and there were no unusual items to report.
Trustee Marsh stated the Committee then received a presentation concerning information technology audit matters led by Vice President for Information Services Ed Mahon and Director of Internal Audit Jo Ann Gustafson. The Committee also received a report on areas of compliance in Intercollegiate Athletics.

With that, Trustee Marsh concluded his report of the Audit and Compliance Committee.

Chair Timken then called on Trustee Stephen Colecchi to give the Finance and Administration Committee report.

FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION COMMITTEE

Trustee Colecchi noted that the Finance and Administration Committee considered nine management decision items in addition to routine information items that are prepared by the administration for each meeting of the Board of Trustees. The information items were routine in nature, he reported.

APPROVAL OF INDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY, MEN’S BASEBALL AND WOMEN’S SOFTBALL

Trustee Colecchi recommended approval of a proposed indoor practice facility for men’s baseball and women’s softball. This facility is particularly important given the difficulty of scheduling practices in the spring due to the weather patterns found in northeast Ohio. About $600,000 in private support has been raised to date for the project, he noted.

Resolution 2013-33

APPROVAL OF INDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY MEN’S BASEBALL AND WOMEN’S SOFTBALL

WHEREAS, late seasonal inclement weather dictates that an indoor practice facility for men’s baseball and women’s softball is necessary to adequately prepare for effective competition; and

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees hereby authorizes the Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration to proceed with the design and construction of this project in accordance with University Policy 3342-7-04.

EXPENDITURE AUTHORIZATION

Trustee Colecchi then proposed a resolution allowing the university to continue expenditure rates at the same level provided for in 2012-2013. With state budget discussions still ongoing, it is possible that deliberations may not be concluded in time to permit the Board of Trustees to act on a final university budget for the 2013-2014 fiscal year prior to July 1, 2013, he said. He further noted that President Lefton will submit an operating budget for action by the board as soon as the state budget in finalized.

(2) The President will submit an operating budget for action by the Board of Trustees when appropriate information is available and a complete operating budget reflecting direction and authority can be prepared.

APPROVAL OF MEDIUM VOLTAGE ELECTRICAL SYSTEMS UPGRADES

Trustee Colecchi then presented materials describing the final phase of Kent State University’s ongoing transition from a 50-year old electrical distribution system to a new one that will increase reliability and provide expanded capacity. The Committee has reviewed the project and recommended its approval, he said.

Resolution 2013-35

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees hereby authorizes the Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration to proceed with this project in accordance with University Policy 3342-7-04.

ESTABLISHMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL RESIDENCE

Trustee Colecchi then recommended approval of a resolution ratifying the actions necessary to establish an official presidential residence and directing that such housing shall be a condition of employment for the university president. For some time the trustees have wanted to secure an official presidential home, which would bring Kent State in line with other universities nationally and across Ohio. He commented that this resolution completes the lease agreement announced in April, and designates the home as the official presidential residence of Kent State University.
Resolution 2013-38

WHEREAS, throughout the years the Board has provided presidential housing in various ways – an official residence on campus, a foundation-owned residence off campus, and since the 1990’s through a housing allowance as part of presidential compensation; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees constantly monitors national trends to keep a close watch on market factors that might impact the university’s ability to attract and retain the best possible leaders; and

WHEREAS, this Board believes that securing an official presidential residence will bring Kent State in line with other Ohio universities and the majority of research universities nationwide and that this action will serve the university’s best interests by providing a preeminent venue for hosting the institution’s distinguished members, friends, donors, and visitors and for carrying out other administrative, ceremonial and social duties: and

WHEREAS, upon exploring various alternatives, the Board has concluded that acquiring use of an existing property would be the most cost-effective solution at this time and identified the following factors as essential to the university’s best interests, including a location within the City of Kent, ample internal space and a layout conducive to large-scale entertainment, accessible parking for guests, and other neighborhood considerations; and

WHEREAS, since 2006 property owned by Lester and Linda Lefton at 1501 Elizabeth Court, City of Kent, has served the needs of the university well and as of April 1, 2013, was sold in a private transaction; and

WHEREAS, on behalf of the Board, a subcommittee was asked to explore whether the property could be leased from the current owner at a cost comparable to the housing allowance and with sufficient flexibility for future presidential recruitment; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees of Kent State University hereby ratifies the actions necessary to establish an official presidential residence and directs that such housing shall be a condition of employment for the University President.
