CALL TO ORDER AND ROLL CALL

Board Chair Larry Pollock called the meeting to order at 7:30 a.m. in the Rhodes Conference Room of Rockwell Hall. Board Secretary Margot Copeland called the roll, and a quorum was present.

PROOF OF NOTICE

Chair Pollock stated that public notification was given pursuant to state law and university policy.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

In accordance with Chapter 121.22, section G of the Ohio Revised Code, Chair Pollock announced that the Board had a need to meet in Executive Session for the purpose of (i) considering the employment and compensation of a public employee or official [121.22(G) (1)].

Trustee Virginia Addicott moved, seconded by Trustee Stephen Colecchi, that the Board retire into Executive Session. Board Secretary Copeland took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the Board adjourned into Executive Session. The session concluded at 8:15 a.m., and was followed by meetings of the Committee of the Whole and the standing committees.
APPROVAL OF THE AGENDA

The Board reconvened for the business portion of the meeting at 11:30 a.m. in the Fashion Library of Rockwell Hall. Chair Pollock added one agenda item pertaining to the proposed university employee separation program that would be brought forward by the Finance and Administration Committee. Then, Chair Pollock requested other additions or corrections to the morning’s agenda.

Hearing no other corrections or additions, the agenda was adopted by general consent.

DISPOSITION OF MINUTES

Chair Pollock requested additions, corrections, or changes to the minutes of the December 2, 2016 Board of Trustees meeting. Hearing none, the minutes were approved by general consent.

REPORT OF THE CHAIR

Chair Pollock began his remarks by thanking everyone for joining the meeting. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, Chair Pollock thanked J.R. Campbell, director of the Shannon Rodgers and Jerry Silverman School of Fashion Design and Merchandising, and the students, faculty and staff of the Fashion School, for hosting the day’s meeting. Chair Pollock stated that the Board appreciated opportunities to spend time on campus, and to see the outstanding students and faculty in action in classrooms, studios and labs. He reported the Board had the opportunity to meet several students, faculty and administrators from the Fashion School at an optional social dinner the night before the Board meeting. He explained that at the dinner students shared highlights of their study away experiences, which spanned the globe – from New York, to Florence, to Paris, to Hong Kong and South Korea. He mentioned that it was clear from the stories shared that these experiences are not only life changing for students personally, but that they are providing students with a creative worldview and a compelling competitive professional edge. He noted that the Fashion School at Kent State is ranked third in the nation and is global in its reach.

Furthermore, Chair Pollock added, every Fashion School student must complete an internship and there is a new requirement that every student must have a global experience to graduate. He noted that Fashion School students regularly win top awards in the industry. He continued that more than 90 percent of Fashion School graduates find employment in the field in less than a year. Additionally, more than 3,000 Kent State alumni are working for the world’s most recognized brands. Next, Chair Pollock stated the trustees looked forward to touring the school and spending some time with students and faculty in the TechStyleLAB and studios later that afternoon. He highlighted that the faculty and staff of the Fashion School clearly take a students-first approach to their work, which allows students to flourish and pursue their passion. Chair Pollock then noted that the trustees were pleased that the agenda included many “students first” initiatives including significant curricular and policy changes, and improvements in living and learning environments.
Chair Pollock added there were two agenda items that were discussed during the morning’s Committee of the Whole session pertaining to the selection of vendors for university dining and exclusive cold beverage pouring rights. He underscored that Kent State was working to create a movement around health and that the cold beverage and dining partnerships would advance those efforts. Chair Pollock stated that the university’s first move toward a healthier campus was to become a smoke-free, tobacco-free university and then to launch the Kent State of Wellness initiative. He added that with the selection of dining and cold beverage vendors, the university was taking another critical step, ensuring that members of the university community had healthy options for dining and beverages. He continued that the relationships proposed by the Finance and Administration Committee not only supported the Healthy Campus initiative, but that for the first time beverage and dining options would be approached system-wide, meaning that all Kent State campuses would offer students, faculty, staff and visitors a consistent quality of service and healthy options.

Finally, Chair Pollock turned the floor over to Trustee Michael Solomon, who was the Board’s representative to the Kent State University Foundation Board of Directors. Chair Pollock and Trustee Solomon attended the Foundation Board’s winter meeting, which was very positive and reflected the deep commitment of the volunteer leadership to the comprehensive campaign and to the “Students First” priority.

Trustee Michael Solomon reported that the Foundation Board was focused on the upcoming campaign. He highlighted the particular support of Foundation Board member Larry Armstrong and his wife Sandy, who are serving as Campaign Co-Chairs for the university’s comprehensive campaign. He noted that there was enthusiasm rethinking the university’s approach to fundraising focused on cooperation, efficiency and effectiveness. The Foundation Board and Board of Trustees are committed to better communication and engagement to make the campaign a success. Trustee Solomon also commended Steve Sokany, vice president for institutional advancement, and the team he was building, on the job they are doing to help the university reach its goals.

Chair Pollock thanked Trustee Solomon for his leadership and his service. With that, Chair Pollock concluded his report and called on President Beverly Warren for her report.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

President Warren proceeded with a discussion of a Distinctive Kent State focused on a culture of research and innovation. Laying the foundation for the conversation, she summarized the complex Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education system and its implications for Kent State. Kent State fits well within the category of the Doctoral university and is one of 335 such institutions nationally, based on the number of doctoral degree programs its offers and the number of total doctorates granted annually. She further explained that doctoral universities are categorized as Moderate, Higher or Highest Research based on total research expenditures, the number of research doctorates awarded, and the number of tenure-track research-focused faculty. Kent State is among 107 universities in the Higher Research category.
President Warren explained that a university’s research classification affects its ability to attract top faculty. Faculty want to come to a place that is vibrant and has a research focus where there is a community of learning advancing new ideas and discoveries. This type of community also pulls researchers together in teams, just as Kent State is doing to build research centers of distinction, she said. Top research faculty often are excellent teachers, bringing the classroom alive with their own research experiences and national conversations around grand problems. Outstanding students – at both the undergraduate and graduate levels – are attracted to outstanding faculty, particularly graduate students who often select a university because of a faculty member’s expertise and reputation in their field of interest. Engaged and successful faculty are highly sought after to contribute to national conversations and dialogue, which also lifts the profile of a university. President Warren added that being a top research university impacts an institution’s rankings in publications like the U.S. News and World Report and others.

She cited just a few of the many outstanding faculty researchers at Kent State: Dr. C. Owen Lovejoy, distinguished professor of human evolutionary studies, a world-renowned anthropologist known in part for his work on reconstructing Lucy, a near-complete fossil of a human ancestor that walked upright more than three million years ago, and Kent State’s only member of the prestigious National Academy of Sciences; Dr. Katherine Rawson, professor of psychological sciences, who was one of 100 researchers to receive a Presidential Early Career Award for Scientists and Engineers from the National Science and Technology Council; Dr. Jihyun Kim, associate professor in the Fashion School, who is one of the world’s top researchers in fashion marketing based on an analysis of contributions to the field published in the Clothing and Textiles Research Journal; and Dr. Phil Rumrill, professor and coordinator of the Rehabilitation Counseling program in the School of Lifespan Development and Educational Sciences, who received the 2016 Best Paper Award from the American Counseling Association and is a top funded faculty member in the area of traumatic brain injuries.

President Warren noted that Kent State is developing five Research Centers of Distinction to harness the innovation and creativity of faculty in the areas of brain health, advanced materials, environmental science and design, healthy communities, and global understanding. She added that pending approval by the Board, the proposed School of Peace and Conflict Studies will help Kent State advance as a global leader and convener in the area of peaceful resolution of conflict.

Vice President Paul DiCorleto has been a difference maker in reimagining a culture of research and innovation, Dr. Warren continued. The comprehensive vision for the Division of Research and Sponsored Programs aspires to develop the resources, facilities and services needed for university faculty, staff and students to conduct ground-breaking, globally relevant research and scholarship. She thanked the Board for its support of investing in a physical infrastructure that assists Kent State in attracting top talent.

Next, President Warren outlined six strategic components of the university’s path forward. First is the university’s goal of doubling its research funding by 2021. Second, Kent State seeks to reach the mark of 65 percent of the full-time faculty as tenure-track. Research most often is conducted by tenure-track faculty members who are significant contributors to a culture of research and innovation and research productivity, she explained. Kent State currently stands at about 60-percent tenure-track faculty, compared an average of 70 percent for peer institutions. Third, Kent State must grow the number of endowed chairs and professorships. The Kent State system’s current 13 endowed chairs and professorships is far below the number at most research universities, she said, adding that changes in minimum funding levels for endowed chairs, endowed professorships, and distinguished endowed chairs approved by the Board last year was a move in the right direction that should enable the university to increase these positions. Fifth, another investment that will jumpstart the increase in research-active faculty is $4 million in Strategic Roadmap funding to support the hiring of 10 to 12 senior-level funded faculty. Sixth, the university needs to support faculty with mechanisms to develop and submit nominations for national awards and recognitions such as the National Science Foundation Career Awards, McArthur Fellows, and Fulbright Scholars. Similar mechanisms must be put into place to help students apply and be nominated for prestigious opportunities including Rhodes, Fulbright, Mitchell, Marshall and Truman scholarships, she said.

President Warren concluded her remarks stating her belief that Kent State needs to capitalize on its momentum and be strategic about its research agenda. A robust research agenda certainly is a “students first” initiative as research opportunities can be incredibly transformational for students and faculty alike. Kent State faculty are and should continue to be at the forefront of innovation and of national conversations regarding major challenges facing the world, she said.

Before concluding her remarks, President Warren congratulated the Kent State women’s basketball team for earning first place in the Mid-American Conference East division.

With that, President Warren concluded her report.

PERSONNEL ACTIONS

Chair Pollock thanked President Warren for her report and asked her to present the personnel actions. President Warren called on Dr. Todd Diacon, senior vice president for academic affairs and provost, to present the academic personnel actions, and called on Dr. Mark Polatajko, senior vice president for finance and administration, to present the non-academic personnel actions.

ACADEMIC PERSONNEL

Provost Diacon called attention to the appointment of Dr. James C. Hannon as Dean of the College of Education, Health, and Human Services and as a full professor with tenure in the School of Teaching, Learning, and Curriculum Studies effective July 1, 2017. He explained that Dr. Hannon brings with him outstanding scholarly and administrative experiences and is a Fellow in the National Academy of Kinesiology. Provost Diacon explained that all other academic personnel actions were primarily routine in nature.

NON-ACADEMIC PERSONNEL

Senior Vice President Polatajko reported that all non-academic actions considered at the meeting were routine in nature.
ACTION: There were no objections to placing personnel actions on the consent agenda.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Chair Pollock then moved to the committee reports and noted that committee recommendations would be placed on the Consent Agenda and acted upon in one motion, unless any trustee wished to remove an item for further discussion. Chair Pollock then called on Committee Chair Ralph Della Ratta to present the report of the External Relations and Development Committee.

EXTERNAL RELATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Trustee Della Ratta reported that the External Relations and Development Committee met to consider several informational items and one item that was recommended for inclusion on the consent agenda.

Trustee Della Ratta announced that the committee recommended Board approval of the naming of the Marovitz Special Collections and Archives Gallery. The gallery would create a museum-quality exhibit space on the first floor of the University Library to display rare and unique materials to a wider audience.

The committee, with support of the University Libraries, the Division of Institutional Advancement, and the President, recommended that this resolution be placed on the consent agenda for approval. The recommendation was consistent with university naming policy and honors Sanford and Eleonora Marovitz.

Trustee Della Ratta noted that the committee heard a presentation on “Constituent Engagement and Communications” from Karen Clarke, senior vice president for strategic communications and external affairs; Vice President Sokany; and Nick Gattozzi, executive director for government and community relations. The team outlined how their areas were working to increase engagement of key stakeholders. He continued that the strategies shared by the team would be incorporated into a national communications plan for Kent State.

Trustee Della Ratta stated that he was delighted to provide updates regarding Campaign Planning and Fundraising year-to-date as presented by Vice President Sokany. Trustee Della Ratta noted that Vice President Sokany highlighted the Institutional Advancement Division’s progress in recent months pertaining to people, processes, and performance. Furthermore, Trustee Della Ratta noted that several key positions critical to the fundraising effort had been filled since the first of the year or were nearing completion. Trustee Della Ratta underscored that significant progress also had been made toward goals such as completing a return-on-investment analysis of staff, the integration of advancement and alumni communications, and strengthening partnerships with the Academic Affairs Division. Trustee Della Ratta then drew the Board’s attention to the most recent fundraising report presented in the Board materials. Trustee Della Ratta outlined that university fundraising results were $4 million ahead of this time last year, for a total of $21.8 million. Additionally, Trustee Della Ratta reported that Vice President Sokany shared his confidence that the university would reach its $38-million goal for the fiscal year.

Trustee Della Ratta also shared highlights of the progress that had been made in planning for the university’s next comprehensive campaign. He highlighted that benefactors Larry and Sandy Armstrong had agreed to serve as the campaign’s co-chairs and that recruitment of a national campaign executive committee was nearing completion. He continued that the administration was reviewing some 200 ideas, totaling nearly $1 billion, that were submitted for consideration as featured fundraising projects in the campaign case statement. He explained that the campaign plan was under development. Trustee Della Ratta also stated that everyone was pleased with the high level of enthusiasm for the campaign among the university’s volunteer leadership.

Trustee Della Ratta noted the committee was informed of President Warren’s approval, consistent with university naming policy, of the designation of the Jane E. Keckler Conference Room at the Stark Campus and the naming of the Anne Andrews Ph.D. ’71 Chemistry Office in the new Integrated Sciences Building.
Finally, he stated the committee heard a presentation from Executive Director Gattozzi regarding state and federal relations where he summarized several key provisions for higher education in Governor Kasich’s budget proposals for fiscal years 2018 and 2019, and he described the process that would unfold over the coming months to reach agreement on a new State budget by June 30, 2017. Trustee Della Ratta reported that President Warren would testify before the House Higher Education Subcommittee, on March 7, 2017.

Trustee Della Ratta concluded his report by stating that it was the recommendation of the External Relations and Development Committee that the above-recommended items be included on the consent agenda.

ACTION: There were no objections to placing the management decision items on the consent agenda.

Chair Pollock then called on Committee Chair Margot Copeland to present the report of the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND STUDENT SUCCESS COMMITTEE

Trustee Copeland reported that the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee met that morning and considered Academic Personnel Actions that were routine in nature. Of note was a request for emeritus status for four faculty members.

Additionally, Trustee Copeland reported that the committee considered 18 management decision items that required Board action.

She then announced that the committee recommended Board approval of the conferral of 2,983 degrees in the fall of 2016.

ENDORSEMENT OF INITIAL REPORT ON DUPLICATE PROGRAMS

Trustee Copeland then stated the committee recommended the endorsement of the Initial Report on Duplicate Programs for approval by the Board. She explained that Section 3345.35 of the Ohio Revised Code required that boards of trustees of each state institution of higher education review all courses and programs identified as duplicative and evaluate each based on enrollment and student performance. The Ohio Department of Higher Education had also mandated that each board submit a report to the Chancellor regarding these duplicative programs. Furthermore, she explained that following receipt of a report from the Ohio Department of Higher Education identifying duplicative programs across the state, university administration conducted a preliminary review of each program identified as duplicative, paying special attention to the graduates and enrollment trends, student success by job or graduate school placement, job potential, quality of program, distinctiveness in the region and importance of the program to the mission of Kent State University. The Initial Report on Duplicate Programs reviewed by the committee carried the endorsement of the Provost and the President.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees approves the establishment of University Policy 3342-4-16 Regarding Electronic and Information Technology Accessibility, effective May 1, 2017.

Trustee Copeland added that this action would facilitate compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

The transformation of the university’s original May 4, 1970 “living memorial,” from a center to a school would allow Kent State to enhance its reputation as a leading institution of research, teaching and practice in constructive conflict management. She continued that the proposed School of Peace and Conflict Studies would promote interdisciplinary research, teaching, practice and community outreach on conflict analysis and resolution, peace building and the prevention of violence. The school would also promote constructive approaches to managing and transforming conflicts in order to build a more just and peaceful world and facilitate collaborative efforts, from local to global, to critically examine and formulate effective responses to destructive conflicts and violence.

ACTION: There were no objections to placing the management decision items on the consent agenda.

Finally, Trustee Copeland reported two information items presented to the committee that morning. She explained that the committee received an update from Dave Garcia, senior associate vice president for enrollment management, on the status of 2017 admissions. Additionally, the committee heard an overview and highlights of the East Liverpool and Salem Campus delivered by Dr. Nathan Ritchey, vice president for Kent State system integration, and Dr. David Dees, interim dean and chief administrative officer of the Kent State University Columbiana County campuses. With that, Trustee Copeland concluded her report.

Chair Pollock then asked Committee Chair Stephen Perry to present the Audit and Compliance Committee report.

AUDIT AND COMPLIANCE COMMITTEE

Trustee Perry began his report stating that the Audit and Compliance Committee met with members of the external auditing firm, Plante & Moran. The auditors presented an outline of the audit activities that would be performed as part of Kent State University’s fiscal year 2017 audit. Trustee Perry commented that this meeting was helpful for the committee and continued to reflect a good working partnership between the auditors, management and the Audit and Compliance Committee. Senior Vice President Polatajko expressed to the committee that the university had been working with Plante & Moran for 10 years. Trustee Perry stated that typically it would be the time to transition to another auditor. However, Senior Vice President Polatajko recommended that the university and the committee consider requesting that the relationship with Plante & Moran be extended, given the number of strategic items on which the university was working. The committee agreed and its opinion would be communicated with the State of Ohio, which manages these contracts.

Trustee Perry additionally stated that Jo Ann Gustafson, director of internal audit, presented the second quarter’s performance report for fiscal year 2017. Trustee Perry explained that this report compared the Internal Audit Plan budgeted hours to actual hours. He noted that there were no unusual items to report, but that because of some vacancies the actual hours spent on the audit were less than expected. Trustee Perry continued that due to the recent hiring of a senior auditor, Director Gustafson expected the audits to be back on schedule.

Next, Trustee Perry mentioned that the committee heard an excellent presentation from Dr. Ed Mahon, vice president for information services and chief information officer, regarding the university’s cyber security program. Trustee Perry outlined that the program’s objectives included preventing and minimizing the severity of incidents, responding to and resolving incidents quickly, defining responsible computing guidelines and policies, and protecting all digital assets and institutional data. Trustee Perry stated that he was pleased to hear that Kent State had not experienced any significant breach where data had been accessed or compromised.

Finally, Trustee Perry stated that Vice President Polatajko provided updated information regarding a financial risk assessment review that was originally initiated during fiscal year 2014. Trustee Perry noted that progress had been made to mitigate the identified risks with an emphasis on process improvement and enhancement of internal controls.
With that, Trustee Perry concluded the report for the Audit and Compliance committee.

Chair Pollock remarked that he too was pleased with the report provided by Vice President Mahon. He also commented that Trustee Perry had asked good questions during the cyber security presentation as to whether Vice President Mahon felt the necessary resources and supports were being dedicated to the area of cyber security. Chair Pollock continued that he believed the Board should feel confident that the university was well prepared in the area of cyber security given that Vice President Mahon responded that he felt the support and resources were appropriate. Chair Pollock then asked Committee Chair Stephen Colecchi to present the Finance and Administration Committee report.

FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION COMMITTEE

Trustee Colecchi reported that the Finance and Administration Committee met that morning to discuss several items. He stated that in addition to the non-academic personnel actions, the committee recommended several items for approval and addition to the consent agenda. Further, Trustee Colecchi noted the committee asked that the resolution regarding exclusive cold beverage pouring rights be removed from the consent agenda as Trustees Riley and Kilbride wished to abstain from that vote.
